

RESPONSIBILITY MAY BE FIXED ON HIGHER OFFICERS

House Investigating Committee After Higher Officers Responsible for Cruelty to Soldiers

Chairman Cummings Ex- pected to Testify as to Alleged "Joy Quintet"

Washington, July 24—Effort to fix responsibility of superior officers for the maltreatment of American prisoners in detention camps and jails in and near Paris will be made by a house war investigating committee next week. Chairman Johnson announced tonight that former Sergt. Clarence Ball, who is serving a six months' sentence at Fort Jay, N. Y., for mistreating prisoners, while a guard at a camp, would appear before the committee Monday.

"Beat the prisoners or be beaten yourself," is the choice Ball says was given him by superior officers, according to a letter written by Ball to Representative Dallinger, Mass., who turned it over to the committee. At prison farm No. 2, where Ball was an "assistant" of Lieutenant "Hard-Boiled" Smith, who also is in prison for mistreatment of soldiers, Ball's letter asserts that he and other guards did their "best not to misuse the prisoners, and it did not suit Smith."

"I admit I hit prisoners," wrote Ball, "but the orders came from higher than any sergeant."

Ball's letter mentioned only Lieutenant Smith, but the former sergeant said "I could tell you a lot more if I could only talk with you."

Other witness will be called by Johnson's committee in the inquiry, the chairman announcing that every effort would be made to fix ultimate responsibility.

Homer S. Cummings, democratic national chairman, is expected to appear before another committee—that headed by Representative Frear, of Wisconsin, charged with inquiry into aviation expenditures. Mr. Cummings is to be asked about publicity said to have been issued by the Democratic committee, in which the proposed visit of the Frear committee to the northwest for investigation of spruce production was referred to as a "Joy junket," and intimated, according to Republican committee-men, that the whole inquiry was for partisan purposes. Mr. Frear will ask Mr. Cummings, Republican members of the committee said to substantiate the charge of partisanship.

Mr. McCluskey, with his wife and granddaughter, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Code, 3542 Humboldt avenue north, Minneapolis, were fishing about 500 feet from shore. Mr. McCluskey was dropping an anchor overboard when the rope caught around his feet. As he struggled to regain his balance he capsized the boat.

Unless Pilots Discharged Because of Refusal to Fly in Fog are Re- instated

Aviators Claim are Told to Re- sign Where Conditions are Such That They Cannot Operate

Belmont Park, N. Y., July 24—Asserting they are forced to fly not only in bad weather, but also in unsafe machines, 20 aerial mail pilots today served notice on Second Assistant Postmaster General Praeger at Washington that they would refuse to fly tomorrow unless reinstatement was granted two brother pilots who they assert were discharged because they refused to take the air Tuesday on account of fog.

The aviators tonight received from Mr. Praeger a telegram stating that the orders applying to the two pilots had not been revoked and asserting that "where flying conditions are such that they cannot operate, they have the option to resign."

According to the men at Belmont field, the strike will affect the aviators at Chicago, Cleveland and Bellefont as well as Belmont Park.

Invite Inquiry
Leon Smith and E. Hamilton Lee are two pilots whose reinstatement is asked. They were serving on the New York-Washington route.

The aviator who said they invited congressional inquiry, asserted that since June 15, during the recent rainy period no less than 15 accidents occurred, in which 10 planes were demolished and two pilots—McCusker and Sanborn—killed.

The aviators declared they had formally protested to the postoffice department that the planes supplied them were poorly adapted for flying even in good weather, as they had 400 horsepower Liberty motors of high compression with a minimum speed of 100 miles an hour. They said they desired slower and lighter machines, as in misty or foggy weather the visibility is so low as to make heavy, high speed craft dangerous.

Planes Unsafe
The pilots claimed they had informed their superiors that certain planes, repaired many times, were unsafe to travel in. They further asserted they had asked for stabilizers which in a fog would show whether the men were flying on an even keel or upside down. These indicators, the men say cost $75, but they were informed, they said, by Mr. Praeger, that "they should steer by compass as the turn indicators are too expensive."

The pilots further complained that under the present system, mechanics who work in the hangars and never fly receive equal pay with the men who risk their lives carrying the aerial mail. This pay ranges from $2,000 to $3,600 a year, they said, varying with time of service and not skill as a pilot or in view of perilous service.

The aerial mail pilots are not employed under the civil service law. They are civilians with the same status as postmen.

Neither President Nor Senate Has Moral Right to Obligate U. S. Under Article Ten

Washington, July 24—Acceptance of the league of nations with reservations to protect independence of American action was advocated in the senate today by Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin. The right to determine domestic questions, to administer the Monroe doctrine and to decide upon its course in any case arising under Article 10, he asserted, should be more fully protected by reservations.

Wilson's 14 Points.

Of President Wilson's 14 points the speaker said, only six had been complied with in the treaty, while four had been "clearly violated" and four "not included at all."

Among those violated, he mentioned the stipulations relating to open covenants, disarmament and impartial adjustment of colonial claims. He expressed the opinion that the league provisions would not be effective in forcing disarmament.

"The country ought to know," said Senator Lenroot, "that with very few exceptions the members of this body are in favor of a league of nations. And the country ought to know that with very few exceptions the members of this body irrespective of party are in favor of a league of nations. And the country ought to know that with very few exceptions, the Republican members are in favor of the league now proposed, providing reservations are made protecting the rights and interests of the United States."

"I believe the United States can and should be protected by proper reservations, and with such reservations the league may be of great power in preventing future wars and securing a better understanding between nations."

Satisfactory Clauses.

The articles providing for arbitration and giving the league authority to act in case of any war or threat of war were praised by the senator who also said he considered the withdrawal article satisfactory. The provision regarding domestic questions he considered "open to objection" while he thought a reservation should be adopted declaring the Monroe Doctrine "unaffected." He also suggested a reservation under which nations could not have the disarmament limitations placed upon them while they were at war.

Regarding Article 10, Senator Lenroot said he considered that "neither President Wilson nor the senate has any moral right to obligate the United States to go to war to preserve the territorial integrity of and existing political independence of members of the league."

American Question.

"Partisanship is being charged against Republicans in the consideration of this treaty," said the Wisconsin senator, "a charge which I know, at least, as to the overwhelming majority of Republican senators, is utterly without foundation. But I do say that if senators across the aisle would only forget that President Wilson is the leader of the Democratic party and remember that this is an American question, I am confident we could come to an almost unanimous agreement as to reservations for the protection of the United States."

Mushrooms lack the "kick" for which the "wets" have been waging a losing fight, but a great brewery has to do something, doesn't it? That is why one of the largest breweries in New York City is experimenting with mushroom growing, voting to it the space in vaults that once was occupied by great copper tanks and other beer-making apparatus. Ten thousand square feet have been laid out in beds and experts are teaching the brewery employees the fine points about mushroom growing.

UNKNOWN SOLICITORS

Public Should be Cautious in Subscribing to Such for Magazines

The public should be cautious in subscribing for magazines when called upon by unknown solicitors from outside. The Chamber of Commerce has been investigating complaints by people who have made a cash payment to unknown solicitors and have thus far received no copies of the publications they subscribed for.

One large magazine organization writes that they are making an effort to apprehend these fake solicitors from territory in which they are operating and a card, sent in to one of these reputable clearing houses for magazines, resulted in the discovery that they did not carry the magazine subscribed for and do not have an authorized agent in this field.

The Chamber aims to stand between the public and all outside solicitors and to make an investigation and they should first be sure that the solicitor has the O. K. of the Chamber Investigation Committee before paying in any money. This will head off fake solicitors in a measure and will protect local people.

SCENIC HIGHWAY MARKERS

Route into Little Falls from the North is Better Marked for Convenience of Tourists (Little Falls Transcript)

Street Commissioners LaFond started changing the signs on the scenic highway yesterday, moving the route out of Little Falls one street south of the old route. With the present change tourists going to Brainerd will come in on the Jefferson highway and turn at Broadway and First streets to the right, going east on Broadway to Fourth street and turning to the left, thence straight north on the Brainerd road.

Heretofore tourists have been at a loss to know the proper road because of the poorly marked route, but that trouble will be overcome with the new markings, which are plain and easily followed. The square at Broadway and First street is the point of convergence of the two highways, the Scenic and the Jefferson.

MOTOR TRUCK AIDS FARMER

Scrub Transportation, Like Scrub Cattle, Detrimental to Agricultural Interest

Just as scrub cattle, scrub horses, wheat, corn and cotton are detrimental to the farmer's interest and are expensive to put up with, so scrub transportation methods are just as much an economic loss to the country.

Within the last two or three years the farmers of America have had it proven that no matter how efficient they make their farm equipment and farming methods—no matter how careful they are to weed out the scrub cattle and the scrub seed, if they do not employ motor trucks for transporting the results of their efficiency, they are handicapping their productivity and hence curtailing their income.

A St. Ignace, Mich., editor tells of his experience deviling on the Lake View, Montclair county, Enterprise. The editor of the Enterprise attended the centennial celebration in Philadelphia in 1876, leaving the boy in charge.

"Most of the matter was taken from Bill Nye," he says. There were no local items, for I had no time or disposition to get out and hustle for town news. I remember that during the time I was in charge the hotel burned down and the whole town got drunk. A write-up of the affair was too much for me even to consider, and I dismissed the subject with the statement that when the editor returned in about two weeks a full account of the fire would be given."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

WOMAN'S REALM

VEGETABLE PRICES DROP

In the Minneapolis Market According to the Journal—50 Per Cent for Potatoes

Wholesale prices of vegetables have taken a big drop in the Minneapolis market, says the Minneapolis Journal, and further declines may be expected during the next 60 days. In many lines, vegetables were selling today in the Minneapolis market on a level slightly above that of pre-war times.

The price declines have come at a time when there is a good demand for all the products, for it is the height of the canning season and nearly every household will benefit by them. Good crops and light losses in transit have helped in getting many vegetables to the present price levels and it was said at Central market today that no hardship had resulted to anyone. The decline was considered a healthy one.

Market Undisturbed.

Prices, although declining and giving consumers opportunities to do buying for winter canning, are not such as to indicate a disturbance in market conditions, dealers said. They urged housewives to take advantage of the present price levels for their buying.

Potatoes Drop 50 Per Cent

New potatoes have registered a drop of more than 50 per cent in the last month, and a further recession of from 10 to 20 cents a bushel is expected as the shipments from Minnesota fields come in. This will probably be followed by a further decline about the middle of September, when the bulk of the crop in the northwest is marketed, dealers said.

| Commodity | July 24 | June 24 |
|-------------------------------|-----------|---------|
| Potatoes, lb. | $.03 1/2 | $.06 |
| Beets, carrots, onions, bunch | .40 | .75 |
| Wax beans, bushel | 1.25 | 3.00 |
| Fancy cucumbers, doz. | .75 | 1.65 |
| Watermelons, lb. | .03 | .05 |
| Cantaloupes, each | .10 | .15-.25 |
| Apples, barrel | 14.00 | 9.00 |

Navy beans have dropped from 14 cents to 8 cents a pound in the last year.

The Koreans are much superior to both Japanese and Chinese in culture of heart and in mentality. Effect of the Circus.

After all, civilization is sometimes a bore. The circus carries us back to the freedom of the great beginning. The Hindus and the Lotus.

The Hindus compare India to the lotus, the petals representing Central India and the surrounding leaves the divisions of the country. The design is much used in eastern temples and architecture generally, and the plant is cultivated in public gardens. A pond in the Taj gardens at Agra holds pure lotus blossoms.

Powerful Nitroglycerin.

The greater part of the world's output of glycerin is used for nitroglycerin, prepared by the action of a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acids on glycerin, which forms the chief ingredient of many modern high explosives and smokeless powders, used for military, mining and agricultural purposes.

Feathers are the really fashionable trimming this season. This hat and parasol are of the most handsome shade of robin's egg blue; the feathers are blue, too, while a rosebud on the brim is a blushing pink ramble.

THEY ARE SURE TO SHRINK

When Buying Housedresses, or Making Them, Allow for One Size Larger.

Always have enough housedresses. To be sure cottons are high priced, but if you make them yourself or buy them at a store where the prices are not exorbitant the cost should not be prohibitive. If you buy them ready made do make sure to get them a size larger than your regular size. They are sure to shrink and it is almost never that the manufacturer shrinks the materials before the dresses are cut out. If you make your own then you have the advantage in being able to shrink it well beforehand. Even then you must remember that the goods will probably shrink a little more in the third and fourth washing so do not make them a bit scrumpy, but add a little for this later shrinkage.

There is one great advantage in the all-white-wash dress and that is that it can be boiled and dried in the sun without fear of losing color. How many dresses have you had to discard or have you wished that you might discard because they have faded? You know what an unbecoming yellow green becomes toward the end of the season, how brownish the most attractive violet, while blue turns gray and gray turns brown. White cotton materials dried in the sun and air only become the showier for frequent washings.

On the other hand white does show the least spot very soon, and to the housewife who has to pay for her laundry work by the piece there is certainly a disadvantage in this. Often a white housedress may be kept for several days simply by removing a single spot or streak as it comes. This can be done with a little warm water and soap applied with a cloth.

KODAK PURSE IS NEW STYLE

Contrivance Opens Like Picture-Making Outfit; Contains Small Receptacle for Money.

The canteen vanity bag and purse will no longer have everything its own way in the fashion field of faddish purses. It now has a rival—this is the kodak purse. People who design pocketbooks are becoming quite as versatile as the makers of gowns in finding sources of inspiration for their patterns, and now they have turned their thought to the kodak, which, after all, is a likely idea to work out in a purse.

These new vanity bags of colored ceramic leathers are made in the form of small cameras. Opening just like a kodak, the front piece drops down, revealing a generous mirror. They are fitted with the accessories of beauty, such as lip stick, powder box, mirror and an eyebrow pencil, as well as a memorandum pad for shopping. Of course, these are the important things in the present-day shopping bag. It might be mentioned casually that they also contain a small receptacle for the almighty dollar, which seems to be the last thing considered when making present-day shopping bags.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

A blouse of bright printed silk is joined to a skirt of accordion-plaited tricollette in plain color.

The talk of Irish lace as returning more and more to favor for the better grade of blouse is persistent.

Extremely long fringes are used on several French imports, bringing models that would otherwise end at the hips to knee length.

Shades of brown and burnt orange are said to be good.

THE NEED OF A NEW WORD

(From the Portland Oregonian)

Responses far out of proportion to the pecuniary reward promised have followed a recent announcement that the managers of the city life exhibit of the Methodist centenary celebration at Columbus, Ohio, would pay $5 to the person providing "a word which will do as the name of the substitute for the saloon." Such a substitute is to be one of the novelties of the exposition. Celebration headquarters have been deluged with suggestions. It is said that all parts of the United States are represented by the competitors.

But new words, which have a way of coming themselves on occasion, do not come when bidden. The committee lets it be known that among the several thousand offered there are few if any promising candidates. It expressly calls for a "coined word," representing an entirely new start, a word which will be "as new as the new era ushered in with prohibition." This bars (no pun intended) a vast number of obvious candidates. There is nothing new, for example, about "The Oasis." The saloons already had appropriated it. For that matter, saloons had over-worked the term "cafe," although they seldom dispensed coffee, and they have been distinguishing themselves as "buffets" for more than a generation. The prohibitionists are not first in the quest for a word conveying the idea of liquorlessness.

The committee rejects "noolas," which is made by reversing the letters of "saloon." The saloon has met with reverse all right enough, but the drys want a word that won't mean saloon even when viewed in a plate glass mirror. "Sofateria" seems to have friends among the judges, but it is robbed of novelty by "cafeteria," which has already won a place in the language and presently will get into the dictionaries.

Meanwhile we go on calling the institution a "soft drink parlor," although it is not clear why parlor should have been picked on. The parlor brings up memories of hair-cloth sofas, marble-topped center tables and a general air of stuffiness, due to its being ventilated only on ceremonious occasions. It has been practically abolished in modern home designing, in favor of the more cheerful "living room," or its equivalent. If the new institution is to draw trade it must not be a "parlor," at least of the old-fashioned kind. The contest is an interesting one. The successful competitor undoubtedly will deserve his $5 if he provides a word which meets the conditions, and which will catch the fancy of a gregarious and a bibulous people.

OLD PAPERS—5c BUNDLE

HAVE POTATOES ALL CERTIFIED

Minnesota Legislature Passed a Seed Potato Inspection and Certification Law

FOR BENEFIT OF FARMERS

Increasing Demand from Southern and other States for Minnesota Certified Spuds

(By E. G. Roth, County Agricultural Agent)

Growers of potatoes who have a good stock of any of the standard varieties of potatoes, should get them certified. The Minnesota State legislature this spring passed the Seed Potato Inspection and Certification Law, under which potatoes are inspected and certified for any grower wishing it.

Potato growers of improved seed should attend to this at once. Ask for the blanks and we will secure a state inspector to inspect your field at once. There is an increasing demand, especially from the southern states where Minnesota seed is used for certified seed potatoes. Every potato grower is interested in getting good pure, disease free potatoes. In the past every now and then a purchaser has bought what he thought was pure seed potatoes and paid a good price for the same, only to find them mixed, off type, with a high percentage of disease and culls.

The Potato Certification Law was passed in order that the purchaser might protect himself against diseased and unstandardized potato seed. It also helps a grower of good and improved seed to secure a better market for his crop.

Application for inspection and inspection and certification should be made before August 1. Blanks and booklets on "Rules for potato seed inspection and certification" may be secured at the Farm Bureau office. The county agent has them in stock and they may be secured on written or personal request.

GERMANY'S POLICIES

Chancellor Bauer to Deliver Series of Speeches on Program Outlined

Berlin—Chancellor Bauer and Foreign Minister Mueller are to make a program of speeches in which they will tell the world what Germany expects to do within and without her boundaries, now that peace is here.

It is believed these speeches will carry some appeal to America, although there is a disposition in some quarters to warn the government against the danger of a "one sided" foreign policy. Instead it is urged Germany should adopt a policy seeking to restore friendly relations with all nations.

Both speakers are expected to reiterate their solemn assurances of the past that the new Germany intends to adhere fully to the peace treaty. The trend of recent thought within Germany, however, makes it appear likely there will be some hints asking Germany's early admittance to the league of nations. Renewed suggestions also are expected with an aim to obtaining further alterations in the Peace terms.

HERO GRAVES PHOTOGRAPHED

Thousands of mothers and fathers of heroic American soldiers and sailors who died in England, France, Belgium and Germany, will soon receive photographs of the graves where these boys lie, according to George W. Atmore of the Duluth council, Knights of Columbus.

Recently the K. of C. workers decorated all the mounds with laurel wreaths, and so many letters were received from heart-broken parents and sweethearts and wives, asking for a description of the last resting place of their loved ones, that the Knights of Columbus decided to photograph all the graves and send them to the nearest kin of the fallen fighters.

Above each mound, in series rows, white crosses mark the graves and on each cross is plainly painted the dead American, his company and the date he was killed.

Greatest Coal Shortage In History On Way, Says Govt.; Public Warned to Buy Coal

The United States Geological Survey has made public at Washington a report covering the first six months' operation of the bituminous coal mines of the United States, which shows that during the first half of the year the production of bituminous coal was more than 70,000,000 tons below the amount produced during the first six months of 1918.

If the present rate of production is not materially increased during the latter half of the year bituminous coal production for 1919 will fall 100,000,000 tons below the requirements of the country as estimated by the Survey in a recent report to Fuel Administrator Garfield.

Such a decrease, in the opinion of officials of the Survey and Fuel Administration, could mean but one thing—the greatest coal shortage in the history of the country.

The decreased production is almost wholly due, the analysis of the Survey shows, to the failure of consumers to buy their coal early in the year. The only way in which production can be thoroughly stimulated throughout the industry is for consumers to place at once orders for their fall and winter coal requirements. Mines cannot achieve their maximum efficiency unless there are orders on hand for their product. In making public its report the Survey says: "The best time in the year for laying in stocks of coal for next winter is rapidly passing, with no evidence of general buying for this purpose. The rate of production has not varied greatly since the middle of May, and averaging about 30 per cent below last year, is apparently just sufficient to meet current consumption." To meet the full requirements of the country, as estimated by the Survey, production must be increased from an average of 8,125,000 tons per week during the first six months of 1919 to an average of 10,900,000 tons per week during the last six months of 1919. This means an increase of more than 30 per cent. A probable shortage of cars and a labor shortage promise to become limiting factors in coal production within a short time. The labor shortage is already felt in certain sections and a car shortage also is reported in certain fields in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia.

Bituminous coal operators throughout the country unite with the Geological Survey in predicting a widespread general coal shortage next fall and winter, unless consumers immediately place orders for their requirements and thus enable the mines to operate at a rate more nearly approaching full time output.

MILLIONS HINGE ON $10,000 SUIT

Soldier Insurance Law Test Case Brought in Federal Court For Wisconsin

Madison, Wis., July 24—A $10,000 suit that may be worth to the government many millions of dollars is before United States District Attorney A. C. Wolfe. It is the first lawsuit in the western district of the state resulting from the soldiers' insurance laws, in force during the war.

Daniel Florness is suing the government for the insurance for which his son, Lorie Florness, applied five days before his death, a policy valued at $10,000. The boy was inducted Oct. 23, 1918, and sent to Camp Shelby, Miss. He was stricken with influenza Nov. 1. He made application for insurance and Nov. 6 he died before receiving final examination by the camp's physician, necessary before admission to the service.

The question involved is whether the young man was actually in the service.

GERMAN DEBT NOW $2,500 PER CAPITA

According to the Cologne Zeitung, which quotes Dr. Dernburg, the burden of debt for Germany now is $2,500 to $2,600 per capita, against $82 before the war.

"This is the average per head," says Dr. Dernburg, "including men, women and children, whether wage earners or not. An amount many times greater than that sum, depending on the number in the family, will be exacted from each able-bodied wage earner."

"This terrible debt is to be borne by a population now numbering only 57,000,000 against 65,000,000 formerly. Large territories with their population are lost to the empire and cannot contribute."

WIDOW'S SAVINGS GONE

Treasured $600 Taken from Bed Tied; 12-Year-Old Sentenced

Minneapolis, July 24—Mrs. Mary Marinofsky, 1009 Galtier street, widow of a Civil war veteran, by taking in washing and working hard every day despite here three score and ten years, and by denying herself more than the bare necessities of life, saved $600.

But she did not believe in banks and kept her savings of years in the bed tick. One week ago Monday some one stole it, and a 12-year-old boy was in juvenile court today charged with taking the money. When the boy admitted taking $25 on two or three occasions, Judge Hugo Hanft sent him to the Red Wing Training school.

AUTO MEN MUST "KNOW"

Times Have Passed Since Automobile Was Considered a Play-thing

Have you noticed how the old time automobile dealer is becoming extinct?

When the automobile was considered more of a plaything than a utility, the dealers did not have to know the car, its design, features or mechanical merits. It wasn't necessary then to keep accurate records of mileage and up-keep as well as performance, service, etc. Dealer service stations were then unknown. Once the car was sold, the dealer dismissed it from his mind—he was no further interested.

The automobile dealer of today is not merely a dealer or an agent, or even a broker in automobiles. Instead he is a transportation merchant. The sale of the car is only the first part of the transaction with him. Inasmuch as he is not merely selling an automobile but transportation, it is up to him to see that the car renders purchasers the best kind of service and performs in an efficient manner to meet the owner's transportation demands.

The attack upon Mrs. Forster followed when she rejected Dubau's proposal of marriage.

STAGE SET FOR MILL CITY TOURISTS

Senator P. H. McGarry and the Hosts From Minneapolis to be Given Grand Welcome

GREETERS GO TO MEET THEM Program at Brainerd Will Keep the Visitors Busy Every Minute of Their Stay

The stage is set for what promises to be the biggest community event in the history of Brainerd this season, tonight, when the whole city will turn out to greet the touring party of the Minnesota State Automobile association, enroute to Walker and making Brainerd their night control.

At Park Theatre.
The two special moving picture films, "Recollections of Ka-be-nah-Gwey-Wence" and "A Day With the Pike," arrived by express this noon, were "tricked out at the Best" theatre and found in fine shape for the entertainment. Mr. Moore, in charge of the Park theatre during the absence of Mr. Workman, pronounced the films first class in every respect. The first show will begin at 7:30 p. m. and second at 8:30 or 9 p. m. just as soon as the theatre can be cleared of the first crowd.

This will be the only opportunity afforded Brainerd people to see these two great booster films. Come early, is the advice of the management.

Greeters on Way.
The party of Brainerd greeters left the Ransford at 3 P. M. sharp this afternoon for Little Falls, where they will meet the touring party and pilot them to Brainerd. The schedule of the tour to this city and plans for the same were published in the Dispatch last evening. Mayor F. E. Little joined the party and his car included Frank Brandt, Sr., Frank Brandt, Jr., Floyd Seeger and Bert Kylo.

The public is urged to clear Front street and that portion of Sixth street between the Iron Exchange building and Front street of all cars, in order to make it possible to handle this large touring party.

The city authorities, police department and all are co-operating in splendid shape. The lights on the streets adjoining the park, have been gone over and put in shape for the evening. Flags will be run up all over town in honor of the visitors, and a few words of greeting will be said at the entertainment at the Park theatre.

Brainerd is awakening itself to the importance of this touring party coming, and the responsibility that rests with the city and the committee is being given the support it has so well earned. Everyone should plan to be out tonight and take in the entertainment at the Park theatre and then join in the good time at Gregory park, in order that they may not only enjoy themselves, but show the visitors that Brainerd people are up and doing and in harmony with the plans for this reception.

Regarding Rooms.

A number of citizens have listed rooms with the committee, but have stated that they expect friends in the touring party and prefer to accommodate these friends. In such cases, they are urged to call at the Ransford hotel, meet their friends and in every case advise the committee with whom they have listed their rooms of the names and the number they are caring for, in order that they may be checked off. This is the only systematic way to handle this, while if local people insist on inviting some of the party to their homes and not advising the committee of the same, confusion will result and the work of the committee much hampered.

It is well to be prepared for a large crowd and rooms can be listed with the Ransford hotel this evening and in this manner the committee be ready for all emergencies. Please be prompt and co-operate with the committee, for they are working hard to make this reception a big success.

The Program.

Moving picture films and entertainment at the Park theatre at 7:30 P. M. The Brainerd band will be the guests of the committee at this entertainment, which will last at least one hour, after which the band will repair to the park and will give two concert numbers there and then precede with the dance program. Another showing of the films will be made at about 8:30 P. M. Immediately after the first showing, in order to permit many who will not be able to attend the first show to see these films, which are of local complexion, highly interesting and this will be the only opportunity Brainerd will have to see them.

The entertainment at the Park theatre will be over in plenty of time to permit everyone enjoying the evening's entertainment at the park.

LUMBERMAN, RAILWAY BUILDER

As President of Brainerd & Northern Built Line Brainerd to International Falls

Judson E. Carpenter, 85 years old, for more than fifty years prominent in the business life of the northwest, as a lumberman and railroad builder, died on Monday at his home in Pasadena, Cal.

In 1891 Mr. Carpenter located in Minneapolis. He was president of the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Railway company and built the line from Brainerd to International Falls, now known as the M. & L., a part of the Northern Pacific system.

He also was interested in half a dozen lumber companies in the northwest.

Mr. Carpenter has been kindly volunteered by former Senator George H. Gardner, and the dancing party will be given there, but with fair weather, the regular order will be followed. This courtesy on the part of Mr. Gardner is appreciated by the committee. Only a nominal price for admission to the dance will be charged, in order to pay the orchestra which must be engaged for the same. Remember that this is in case of bad weather and is an emergency preparation only and that under ordinary conditions, the entire entertainment will be at the Park theatre and Gregory park.

The attention of the public is called to the fact that dancing will be enjoyed at Lum park later in the evening and it is hoped that the visitors will find time and opportunity to attend this party and to see the beautiful park.

So much is being crowded into the evening's entertainment that it will be left with the visitors to follow their own wishes in the matter and to attend such functions as they see fit.

A. O. U. W. INITIATE A LARGE CLASS

Grand Master Workman M. H. McDewitt and Deputy Born of Minneapolis Make Addresses

DEGREE HONOR SERVES BANQUET Musical Program, Dancing and Card Playing—60 Members Gained in July

On Thursday evening the Ancient Order of United Workmen, the oldest insurance order in the state, celebrated the gaining of 60 new members by giving a big banquet, dance and program at their hall.

The attendance was large, the hall being filled, and the program opened by Grand Master Workman M. H. McDewitt and Deputy Born, of Minneapolis, both giving very instructive and interesting talks. Followed their talks the sumptuous banquet was served under the direction of the Ladies of the degree of Honor, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and was given a vote of appreciation.

A musical program followed the banquet and then dancing and card playing filled the balance of the evening.

A large class was initiated on Thursday evening, and the members tarried with their enjoyment until the small hours of the morning.

Members assert the A. O. U. W. is the oldest insurance order of the state and is one of the strongest in the United States. Their rates are low and those who have insurance in the order are more than satisfied with the order, insurance and the general run of things.

During the month of July the order has taken in 60 new members in Brainerd, and the campaign is still on. It is expected that this number can be doubled in the very near future, and that the A. O. U. W. will be made the largest order in this city.

Not alone is the insurance feature of this order the attractive part, but the social features of the order are as attractive as those of any order in existence, which was well proven by the program and the evening of enjoyment given on Thursday.

Theodore Isaiff Gets Word After Two Years From Father, Sister and Brother in Riga

SURVIVED WAR, STARVATION Assert the Germans are in Control June 13 and Saved Them From Bolshevik Inundation

Theodore Isaiff of Backus, whose father, sister and brother have been at Riga all through the turmoil of Europe and whom he supposed had succumbed to the raids of the Bolsheviks, has received two letters from them stating they had survived warfare, hunger and semi-starvation.

The sister is an experienced nurse and has found constant employment. The brother is at work. The old father has kept house for the two. The letters received was the first word from them in two years.

The Germans under date of June 13 were in control of Riga and were preserving order. As Isaiff's aged father wrote, the Germans saved the people there from a bolshevik inundation.

Prices of clothing, shoes, etc., are almost prohibitive. Instead of shoes which retail, second hand, at $1000 (one thousand dollars) a pair, the people swath their feet in rags. Butter is $30 a pound.

Young Isaiff of Backus, who is married and has prospered in this country, will strive to get the family to America.

BRAINERD HOSPITAL NOT TO BE ABANDONED

Will Continue to be Used as a Hospital When General Hospital is Built

WORK BEGUN ON NEW BUILDING

At St. Paul Yesterday—Will Cost Upwards of a Half Million Dollars

Excavation on the site of the new $500,000 hospital of the Northern Pacific Beneficial association, Asbury avenue and Charles street, St. Paul, is under way says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. It is expected the building will be ready for occupancy this fall.

The hospital covers a block and will accommodate 150 patients. A garage and power plant will be erected in addition to the main building.

Gossard Corsets

Buy your corsets carefully. To quote the well-know medical authority, Alice S. Cutler, M. D., "No one wants to be ill, and when women realize that the constant wearing of an ill-fitting corset helps to keep our hospitals open they will insist on being properly fitted to corsets instead of buying them hit or miss."

The more you know about correct corsetry the more you will appreciate the superiority of Gossards from the standpoint of comfort, hygiene, style and wearing service.

As to Shaving.

When it comes to shaving, we have the word of Pliny for it that Scipio Africanus was the first man who ever shaved everyday. Whether Mr. Africanus shaved himself or was shaved by a barber, Pliny does not say, but it may be gathered from certain remarks of Tallyrand that this is an important point in any man's habits. Asked if Napoleon cut his own whiskers, the great French statesman replied: "Yes. One born to be a king has someone to shave him, but they who acquire kingdoms shave themselves."

Man's Wonderful Makeup.

No difference how sour a man looks, he contains about 60 lumps of sugar of the ordinary cubical dimensions, and to make the seasoning complete, there are 20 spoonfuls of salt. If a man were distilled into water he would make about 33 quarts, or more than half his entire weight. He also contains a great deal of starch, chloride of potash, magnesium, sulphur and hydrochloric acid in his wonderful system.

SPORTS

PITCHERS SUFFER WHEN SCORERS ARE TOO EASY ON "ERRORS"

There is a growing evil in baseball that should be checked at once, and that is the leniency that many scorers show toward fielders in the matter of scoring errors. Batting averages are inflated and pitchers' records are marred through this tendency to give the fielder an "edge" on a ball hit with more than ordinary force, or which from some unevenness of the ground doesn't travel as the man playing it thinks it should.

"Too hot to handle." "He never got his hands on it," and "it took a bad bound" are expressions heard regularly throughout a game, and as regularly a batter gets credit for a hit and a black mark goes against the hard working pitcher who has done his part and "placed" the ball on the plate so that the batsman had to hit it on the ground.

Scores of time an infielder will make a pickup of a hard hit ball and toss out his man; then on a play exactly similar a moment later he will miss the ball entirely. He gets the applause for making a fine play in the first instance, but on the second he pays no penalty because "he didn't touch," notwithstanding the fact that he should have touched it.

The "bad bound" excuse is another poor one in a great many cases. A lipped infielder can follow a bad bound, and these are the men who are supposed to make their way into the major leagues. They are paid for their ability to cover ground and intercept drives, no matter how sharp. If the majority of them do their work well, it is unjust to have the unskillful ones come through with no errors when they have failed to get many balls that their comrades "eat up."

Ed Caron's baseball nine bumped into a Northeast Brainerd kid team, so the kids say, and barely snatched away victory with a 13 to 12 score.

Swore by Their Whiskers.

If the beard has any standing in the world today, it is undoubtedly because of the Jews, who held their whiskers to be sacred, and swore by them. Later, the Turks did the same. The sultan's followers used to comb their whiskers after prayers, catch the hairs that came out, break them in two and bury them, on the theory that in some mysterious way the hairs helped to make soft walking to the gates of paradise. This the Turks firmly believed. And they were greatly shocked when, in 1512, Selim I came to the throne without a beard. His smooth face was regarded as a deliberate affront to all the bearded patriots of all ages, and the highest priest was sent to remonstrate with him. Selim could not be made to talk seriously about it. "I have cut off my beard," said he, "so that my vizier may have nothing to lead me by."

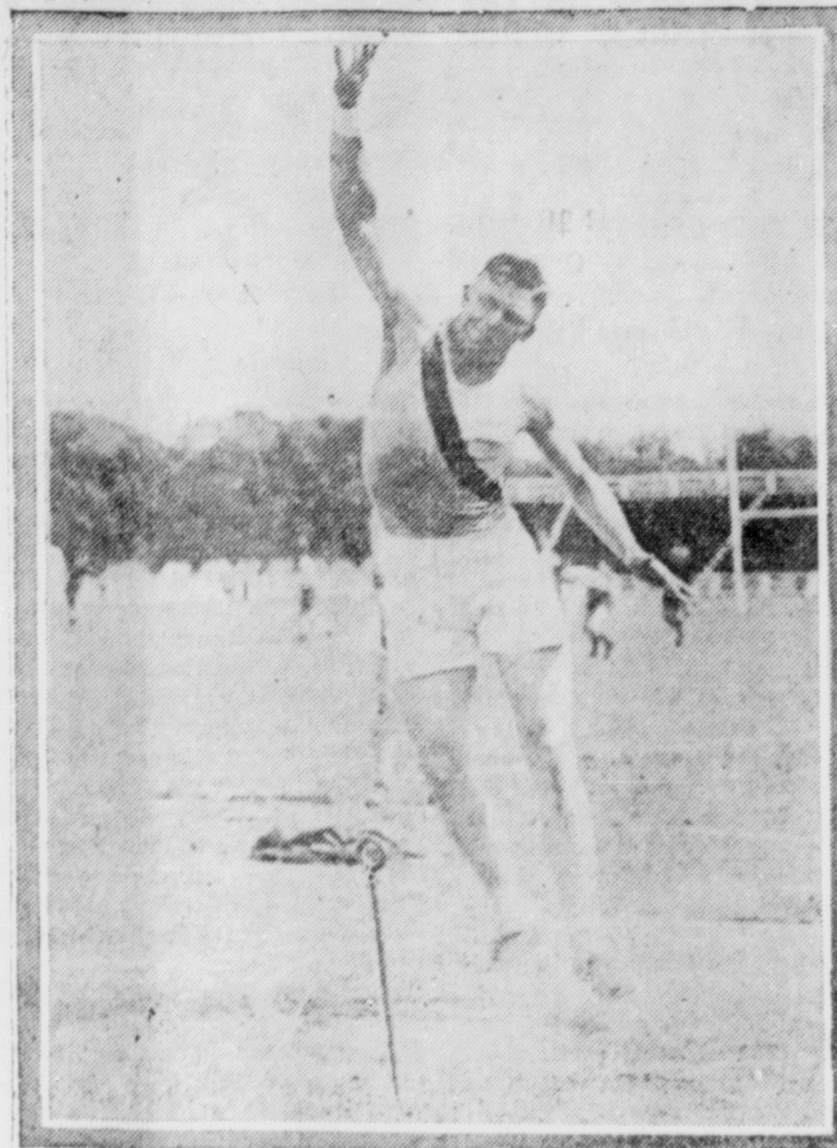

Autocrat of the Air.

The miller at the old windmill of a village in Buckinghamshire one year found such difficulty in getting his sails to work through want of wind that he was continually behind with his work. The delay annoyed the farmers, who decided to call a meeting to consider the advisability of getting up another windmill. Uninvited, the miller also attended the meeting and in the midst of the discussion rose and said: "Ye want to get up another windmill, do ye? Well, it takes all the wind in the parish to keep my old mill agoing, so you'll have to fish elsewhere for yer wind, that's sartin!" This novel argument gave matters the turn, and to this day the miller has had no opposition.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Creating a Demand.

At the theater a lady's hat obscured a man's view, and he leaned forward and respectfully asked if she would remove it. A stiffening of the neck was the only answer. After a few minutes he repeated his request. Then she turned to him. "There is no demand for my doing so," she said. "No demand?" he echoed. Then he rolled up his overcoat and placed it on his seat, sat on it, and put his hat on his head. In a moment there were shouts of "Take it off!" "Take that hat off!" And instantly the lady drew out her hatpins and removed her hat.

Liveredge, who at one time held the American javelin record, was an all-round athlete at the University of California. He was a good football player.

RESPECTED HOME OF MORGAN

Federals and Confederates Both Refrained From Damaging House of Revolutionary Soldier.

A subscriber who was interested in the Companion's account of the respect shown to Mount Vernon during the Civil war has called to our attention to another historic place that received similar respect and protection—the home of Gen. Daniel Morgan, of Revolutionary fame.

During the summer of 1912, says our friend, I was visiting in the Shenandoah valley, and in going from Shepherdstown to Harper's Ferry passed a little village called Morgan's Grove. My attention was attracted to a large, two-story stone house, which I discovered to be the old home of Gen. Daniel Morgan, the commander of the famous "Morgan Rifle Corps." At that house Col. Morgan organized his famous regiment of riflemen and marched to Boston, a distance of six hundred miles, to join Washington's army. The men were dressed in deer-skin coats and coonskin caps and were armed with those long-barreled rifles that they used with such telling effect in the battles of the Revolution. At the battle of Saratoga, when Burgoyne asked why the officers of his army who were killed had been shot in the head, he was informed that it was the Morgan riflemen who were responsible. He remarked that it was of no use to fight with such an army and that he might as well surrender.

THE COMFORTS of the American Home

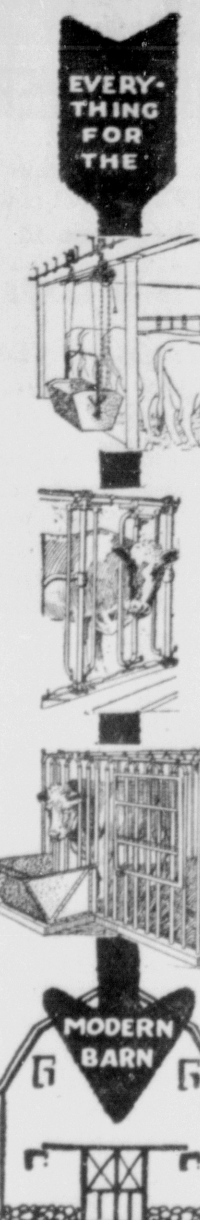

It is a well-known fact that, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the piano, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless electrical appliances.

There is a well-kept look about residence, store or out-buildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.

Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how the condition was brought about?

The old stone house at Morgans Grove stood unmolested during the Civil war. Both Confederate and Federal soldiers held it in almost sacred reverence. Early's men and Sheridan's swept past it on their raids in the valley, yet the home of the Morgans continued to stand as a noble monument to the memory of the great general who helped to gain our independence.—Youth's Companion.

ORIGIN OF FAMOUS DISHES

Sally Lunn, Who Gave Her Name to Tea Bread, Was a Real Personage—Mulligatawny.

Sally Lunn was a pastry cook who at the end of 1800 used to sell the tea bread which bears her name in the streets of Bath, Stray Stories (London) says.

Macaroni originated from a Greek phrase meaning "the blessed dead," in allusion to the ancient custom of eating it at feasts for departed souls. Gooseberry-fool is a corruption of gooseberry "foole," meaning milled or pressed gooseberries.

Forcemeat comes from the French "farce" meat. "arce" is stuffing, thus is forcemeat used for stuffing.

Blanc-mange means literally "white eatable."

Julienne soup was invented by a Mme. Deschamps, a Paris market woman who died about 1807, aged ninety-four. She saw the allies enter Paris after Waterloo and supplied vegetables to the Tuilleries during the reign of Charles X and Napoleon III.
